SUMMARY OF DUTIES

Behavioral and Educational Solutions, PC (BES) invites applicants for a full-time postdoctoral fellowship in child, adolescent, and family psychology. The ideal candidate will appreciate psychology from an ecological perspective in which individuals are connected to a dynamic integration of multiple systems. BES is a behavioral health consulting company dedicated to delivering multidisciplinary, culturally-competent, systems focused, and developmentally appropriate services. At BES, we believe individuals do not live within vacuums; hence, our mission is to provide data-driven services that establish strong, collaborative, engaged relationships between the families, schools, and other systems.

Our office is located in Silver Spring, Maryland, a suburb of Washington, D.C. The Washington D.C. metro area provides access to an array of cultural, dining, and historical events and experiences. Access to a large, diverse, urban area affords opportunities to develop competencies working in and between urban public charter schools and government agencies.

Our postdoctoral program is predicated on a scientist-practitioner model. Fellows will have opportunities to build skills in assessment, therapy, mental health consultation, and applied behavior analysis. Services are provided in the clinic as well as natural settings, which may include experiences in the school, home, and/or community. The postdoctoral fellow will work under the direct supervision of a licensed psychologist.

Upon successful completion of training and fulfillment of requirements for Maryland and Washington D.C. licensure, the fellow will receive preferential consideration for full-time employment.
